

SENIOR ANDROID DEVELOPER

We are LightPixel, a company with over 15 million downloads of our apps and games. We are designing, developing and publishing our own apps in app stores. We do not make apps for external companies. We are a remote company with a base in Warsaw and since we are expanding, we are looking for a great Android Developer to join the team.

We are looking for a skilled Senior I Mid Android Developer who is ready to create top-level native android apps and take an active role in the creative process.

What will you do:

- Design, implement new features in the existing android apps
- Design, implement, optimize our new android apps
- Impact the process of creating our apps
- 90% work on new features and new apps, 10% maintenance

Our expectations:

- 3+ years of professional programming in Android (Java, Kotlin)
- Ability to write high quality and easy to maintain clean code
- Understanding of code versioning tools, such as Git and pull requests
- You know more about code review and pair programming than what you just read on the Wikipedia page
- You are not afraid that your ideas will be challenged by the team
- Happy to work remotely
- Open to learning new things and happy to share your knowledge
- When pandemic will end - once a quarter meet in our office in Warsaw to do the creative job
- Nice to have: experience in photo and video processing

What do we offer:

- Work on great apps and more awesome ideas to come
- Unique work atmosphere where we appreciate good brainstorm and never schedule needles meetings
- Impact on design, feature, architecture, lib, code
- Remote work (all the time)
- Your solutions will be used by millions of users daily

Our approach

Having fun, exploring ideas, creating, solving, building great things for our users, being proud of your work, challenging yourself, learning, growing, building a self-sustaining company, adding something useful to the world, and working with great people — that's what our company is all about.

Sounds good? Please apply via email jobs@lightpixel.io and remember to include your CV and few words about You.
